March is National Women's History month. Why Women's history month? As one historical researcher put it -- "If you came to this country from another planet and looked at our historical records you would surmise that women comprised no more than 10% of the population rather than the actual 51%." March was chosen to include International Women's Day, observed abroad on March 8 since 1910, and in the U.S. since the late 1960's. International Women's Day commemorates two demonstrations by women garment workers in New York in 1857 and 1908, against worsening working conditions, low wages and long hours. Consider the roles of women in the history of this country and celebrate.
